Trump, we represent eight transgender service members with nearly 60 years of combined military service. The complaint challenges the ban on the grounds that it violates the constitutional requirements of equal protection and due process. In Stockman v. Trump, we represent Equality California along with transgender service members and transgender individuals who wish to join the military. As a result of preliminary injunctions secured in these cases, transgender service members continued to serve, and transgender people became eligible to openly enlist for the first time on 1/1/2018. As part of our work to stop Trump's transgender military ban, we developed a strategic communications campaign committed to lifting up the lives and stories of our plaintiffs and others to help change hearts and minds about transgender people and counter stigma, securing coverage from major outlets including CNN, USA Today, BuzzFeed, NPR, and Teen Vogue, and many others, reaching an audience of over 1 billion. 4. Advanced and defended access to health care without discrimination by: securing a ruling in a suit against a San Diego Hospital that the Affordable Care Act's prohibition on sex discrimination in healthcare includes discrimination on the basis of gender identity, in which a transgender boy who experienced discrimination when he was in need of acute, inpatient care and subsequently died by suicide; litigating a case on behalf of a transgender prisoner in Idaho addressing the applicability of federal sex discrimination laws to protect LGBTQ people from discrimination, including access to appropriate healthcare; successfully representing a young transgender woman in Oregon who was denied coverage for facial feminization surgery by Oregon Medicaid, resulting in Oregon Medicaid revising its regulations, clearing the way for other transgender people to receive this care as well; and representing a transgender girl on Medicaid in Florida who had been denied coverage for puberty-delaying medication, also resulting in an agency policy revision. 5. Protected LGBTQ youth from so-called "conversion therapy" by: providing technical assistance to administrative advocacy partners in North Carolina, Maryland, Maine, and Pennsylvania; litigating a groundbreaking consumer fraud case against a licensed California marriage and family therapist; sustain and growing our network of conversion therapy survivors; elevating diverse survivor stories in the media to show that conversion therapy is happening across the country, in many different religious and secular settings, with LGBTQ individuals from many different communities; providing expert input into two major feature films addressing this issue; and (with HRC) releasing Just As They Are, a guide that helps parents recognize when and how conversion therapy is promoted, provides information about the dangers of the practice, and outlines best practices for parents seeking to promote the health and well-being of their LGBTQ child, including finding inclusive counseling services and churches. 6. Promoted the health and well-being of LGBTQ youth in juvenile justice systems by working with the Ruth Ellis Center and the Michigan Council on Crime and Delinquency to develop and deliver 4 trainings to the Case Management Organizations that contract to provide juvenile justice services to youth; and collaborated with Santa Clara County in California on work toward developing systems to help keep LGBTQ youth from entering the juvenile justice system. 7. Protected the wellbeing of transgender youth by representing youth in Florida and Ohio who are being denied access to appropriate restrooms and facilities by their schools. 8. Provided expert technical assistance to Equality Michigan in their strategy and advocacy with the Michigan Department of Civil Rights (MDCR) requesting the MDCR to issue an interpretive statement clarifying that discrimination on the basis of sex, as prohibited the Elliot Larsen Civil Rights Act, includes discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity. 9. Supported litigation against employment discrimination by drafting and submitting amicus briefs in critical Title VII cases on behalf of lesbian, gay, and bisexual plaintiffs in the U.S. Supreme Court and the First, Second, Eighth, and Eleventh Circuit Courts of Appeals. 10. Directly assisted more than 250 LGBTQ clients with various aspects of their immigration cases-from direct representation to identifying attorneys who can represent individuals to providing ongoing technical assistance to going out to meet with detainees and help them with their paperwork. Filing an amicus brief in City & County of San Francisco v. Trump, the California case challenging President Trump's executive order attacking sanctuary cities. 11. Co-hosting, with the NCAA the third annual Common Ground Initiative meeting, once again bringing together representatives from conservative religious schools across the country to meet with LGBT advocates. Several schools have adopted new policies and programming for LGBT students as a direct result of this initiative. 12. Deepened public education on so-called religious freedom issues and leading a call to action that resulted in nearly 300 comment submissions to the U.S. Dept of Health and Human Services, denouncing a proposed rule that would encourage healthcare providers and institutions-like doctors and hospitals-to deny health care services for religious reasons. 13. Provided assistance through our Legal Information Helpline to over 1,000 people (more than half low-income or indigent) who contacted us during this period with questions on subjects including: custody and visitation of children, establishing legal parentage for non-biological parents, name and gender changes, employment and housing discrimination, public benefits, healthcare access, prison conditions, and family formation. 14. Addressed the particular needs of lowincome LGBTQ people by: providing training for over 150 attorneys providing free or low-cost legal services to low-income clients on how to better serve LGBTQ clients; participating actively in the LGBTQ Poverty Initiative; helping to develop the initiative's landmark report, Intersecting Injustice: A National Call to Action - Addressing LGBTQ Poverty and Economic Justice for All (including having a staff attorney co-author the section on Federal Economic Policy); being the only LGBTQ organization to join the Coalition on Human Needs; and leading a coalition of LGBTQA organizations to educate the public about proposed eligibility and benefit cuts in the House farm bill that would cause one million households with two million individuals to lose access to food assistance altogether or experience a reduction in benefits. 15. Advanced reproductive justice (RJ) and fostered collaboration between the LGBTQ and RJ movements by: participating and leading intra- and extra-movement conversations about the intersection between LGBTQ and RJ work; partnering in opposition to the reinstatement of the "global gag rule"; participating in coalition efforts to protect access to family planning services; opposing ACA repeal efforts; drafting and signing on to letters, comments, and amicus briefs related to reproductive health, rights, and justice. 16. Organizing a Rural Pride convening--our first since the change in administration resulted in the end of our formal partnership with the U.S. Dept of
